Introductory remarks:

The Sherpa language is only a spoken language. There have been attempts in recent years to introduce a written form of this language based on the Tibetan script. But this is not an easy undertaking. The Sherpa language definitely goes back to a Tibetan dialect spoken in the eastern Tibetan Kham province in the 15th century, but it has developed in its own way for the last 500 years. So, it must be regarded as a language of its own separate from Tibetan. In modern times, Sherpa language has been enriched by a number of words taken from Nepali or English. Even within the Sherpa area one finds a lot of regional differences in the current use of the language. In Khumbu, for example, the use of words is a bit different from that of Pharak, Shorung (nep.: Solu), Helambu, Rolwaling, the Arun valley, Darjeeling etc. In the following list, the words have been written in the way they are used in Lhakpa's and Tendi's home area, the Takshindu region of Shorung.

For this list we have used a simplified way of transcription which may need a few explanations. In most cases, the vowels are pronounced short and open. Concerning the pronunciation of consonants, the following rules are of importance:

ch is pronounced like ch in cheap

j is pronounced like j in jam

ph is pronounced as a bi-labial f-sound

y is pronounced like y in young

z is a voiced s-sound as in zero

zh is pronounced like j in the French word jour

There is a discussion on the way how to make modern Sherpa a written language. Sherpa leaders with fundamental background of classical Tibetan plead for the use of the Tibetan script because of the Sherpa's linguistic and religious closeness to Tibetan culture. But most of the Sherpas are not able to read and write Tibetan script. Especially the younger generation tends to use Devanagari script, for example in Sherpa journals. Both, the Devanagari script and the Latin alphabet as used by us, have some problems to reproduce Sherpa sounds correctly. In addition, Sherpas in favour of Devanagari apply the script as it is used (and especially pronounced) in modern Nepali. This makes the Devanagari spelling of Sherpa words difficult for those with some knowledge of the structure of Tibeto-Birmese languages, and it also contributes to the further Nepalization of Sherpa culture. Nevertheless, we have decided to use this form of Devanagari transcription for two reasons:

1. It is the most common form of writing Sherpa language among Sherpas.
2. It is the best way to bring Sherpa language closer to people with Nepali as their mother tongue. Non-knowledge of ethnic languages and cultures is one of the most important reasons for the exclusion of ethnic groups into a state dominated by high caste Hindu elites with Nepali as mother tongue.

3. It helps to understand the correct pronunciation and distinguished differences of words in cases where the Roman transcription is insufficient.
